Keeping Cool

Long-term exposure to heat and humidity can pose a serious health risk, especially to older adults and people who take certain medications. The New Jersey Department of Aging Services recommends the following to avoid heat-related health complications:

- ☀️ If your home does not have air conditioning, spend time in a library, movie theater, mall, or other public building that is air-conditioned.
- ☀️ Make sure to keep hydrated with water, and that those with limited mobility have easy access to fluids.
- ☀️ Medications can increase your risk of heat-related illnesses, so it is important to discuss them with your healthcare provider.
- ☀️ Do not leave a person or pet in an enclosed car, even for a minute, since temperatures can quickly rise to dangerous levels.
- ☀️ It is recommended that you wear loose clothing in light colors. Keep your head covered when outdoors.
- ☀️ Schedule your physical activities for cooler times of the day or reduce their intensity.

Energy Assistance

Need assistance with your home energy bills? There are programs available from the State of New Jersey that can assist. More information can be obtained by calling (856) 384-6900.

- The Universal Service Fund (USF) aims to reduce the cost of electric and natural gas for low-income households. A household can be eligible for USF if it meets the following requirements: 1) be income eligible; 2) spend more than three percent of household income on gas and/or electricity (or spend more than six percent on electric heating). The program accepts applications throughout the year.
- For low-income senior citizens and disabled persons, Lifeline Utility Assistance Program is available. Eligible homeowners and renters can receive Lifeline benefits to help pay for electric and natural gas bills.
- The Payment Assistance for Gas and Electric (PAGE) grant helps gas and electric customers prevent service disconnection or restore service after it has been disconnected.
- LIHEAP is a federally funded program that assists low-income households with their heating costs (including electric, natural gas, oil, and other deliverable fuels). You may qualify even if your rent includes heat. Medically necessary cooling costs can also be covered by LIHEAP grants. Each year, applications are accepted from October 1 through June 30.

Don't Be a Victim of Fraud – Know About Consumer Protection

There is a higher rate of financial fraud and scams among seniors than among any other age group. Seniors are prime targets of scammers today due to a number of factors, beginning with their financial assets. It is most likely that members of this generation possess a substantial "nest egg," own their homes, or have excellent credit ratings. A fraud is also less likely to be reported by seniors. Many victims are unaware that they have been scammed, do not know who to report it to, or are ashamed of being victimized. Scammers target seniors because they are less likely to know about the new scams spreading across the country and around the state. Seniors should be aware of the latest frauds and take extra precautions to protect themselves. Educate yourself and those around you with the resources available. If you or someone you know has been a victim of a scam or fraud, contact the New Jersey Division of Consumer Affairs at www.njconsumeraffairs.gov or call 1-800-242-5846.
